

We still sell government to the highest bidder through the financing of political campaigns. If we allow all the newspapers, TV and radio in a community to be owned by one or two corporations we will have sold election news to the highest bidder. Citizens cannot make voter decisions without good and independent information from many sources.